Why do we print this book? Here are some of advantages having a printed book.

Printed books • Printed books revolutionized the world nearly 600 years ago, and since then they have influenced every part of the world, specifically in culture and science. They gave people chance to share their ideas and thoughts with the whole world.

Advantages of printed books • No need for an e-reading device • No batteries needed – the only thing you need is book and you can start enjoying whatever the book has to offer you. • Understandability – you can put marks and take notes so that you can easily understand what writer wants to say

Tangibility – choosing printed book is opting for prolonged existence and tangibility. It has ability to be seen forever on your shelf with other books. • It's for everyone – even the non-computer literate readers will find no worries with printed books when they want to read. Carpet Trends

That Make a Serious Statement

While a piece of art or furniture tends to serve as the focal point of any room, what sits underneath them can make just as much of a statement. Whether it be animal printed carpet in a fresh hue for modern appeal, or a brightly colored rug that gives some serious punch, these usually overlooked design elements have the ability to completely transform a space. We tapped Ashley Stark Kenner, Creative Director of the carpet and fabric company STARK, who knows a thing or two about ground décor for tips and tricks of the trade. Here, 11 ways to create an unforgettable space from the ground up.

MOODY INDIGO

“Deep indigo is a trend I am seeing everywhere. When done in luxurious silk it creates such a beautiful statement.”

2

HOME ON THE RANGE

“Antelope carpet is so hot right now in any color. I especially like it in the grey – that feels modern and fresh.”

STEP LIVELY

“I am loving bold staircases. By adding a geometric design, you make the staircase a focal point. Steven Gambrel chose a powerful David Hicks design that creates some serious eye candy.”

MAD FOR MOROCCAN

“I love Moroccan rugs. They make any room cozy and laid back. It’s especially cool to layer it in a bedroom, creating warmth and depth. I love how it envelops this vanity corner.”

FAUX BOIS

“I am all about wood right now. I love using wood in patterns such as this STARK carpet. Using wood grain wallpaper on the ceiling or in tiles for a bathroom gives an organic, cool feel.”

IF IT SUITS YOU

“This Prince of Wales check is a classic that never goes out of style. I love menswear suiting-inspired designs in the home, especially when used in unexpected ways, like this stair runner by Missoni.”

7

EASY BEING GREEN

“I am loving anything green these days, especially rooms that have layers of green. Here, the zebra hide [unexpectedly] pops against the kelly green walls.”

8

COLOR YOUR WORLD

“I think color has made a comeback. I especially like bold colors paired with a wood paneled room, letting the rug be the source of color and the focal point.”

9

GO GET 'EM TIGER

“Animal prints are a huge trend, and I love seeing them paired with granny-chic floral wallpaper. This custom tiger carpet done in green is so fresh.”

10

HEAVY METALS

“I am all about metallic touches right now. Adding metal studs to a runner adds such a cool element. I love the tailored look.”

Five-story
Treehouse..

..Just Became
Zillow's 2017
House of the Year

It has water views and is made with salvaged ship parts.

Every year, tens of thousands of Zillow readers weigh in on house of the year and this five-story treehouse took the top place for 2017 with nearly 2,500 votes, beating out a mid-century modern mansion in L.A. and the oldest residence in Charleston.

Up until recently, this three-bedroom, four-bathroom home on Bainbridge Island, just outside Seattle, Washington, belonged to Jason McLennan, a designer and environmentalist who worked on Leonardo DiCaprio's soon-to-open eco-friendly resort in Belize.

"It really spoke to me. It's really connected to the environment around it," McLennan told Zillow about the Washington home surrounded by 200-foot-tall cedars. "It has great views, great light and it has all these different levels. You can really find a space that fits your mood."

Built in 1978 by another architect, William Isley, the living space is anchored by four salvaged wood posts, which McLennan believes to be old-growth Douglas fir that's over 100 years old.

The second level is home to the living room, while the ground floor leads to an outdoor pond.

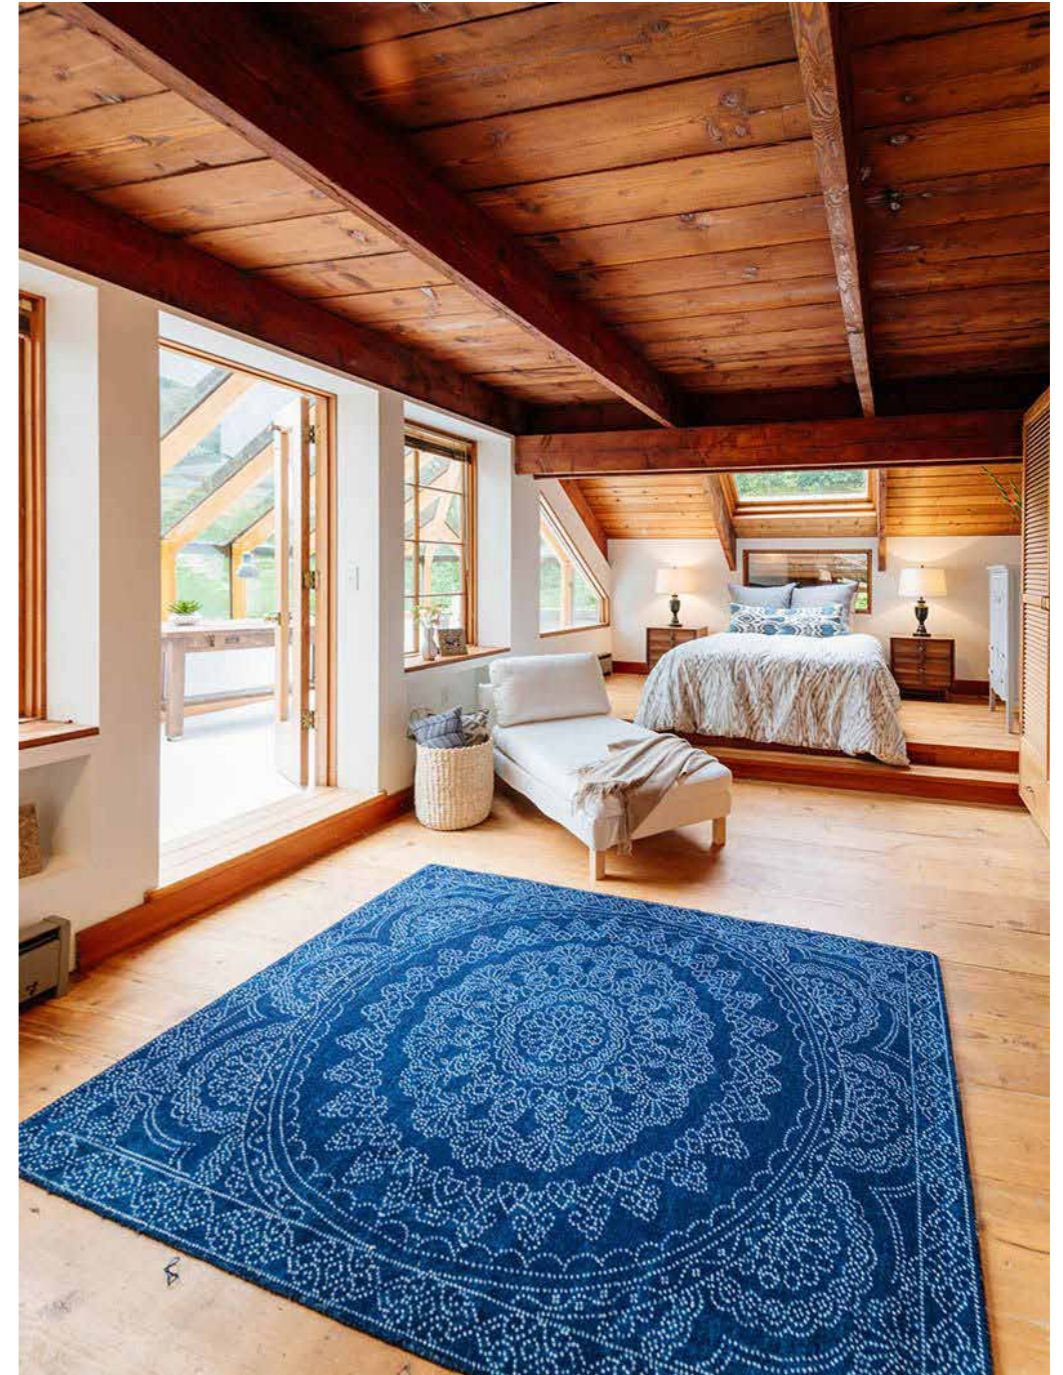

Other salvaged elements of the house include windows made from repurposed ship portholes and brass doorknobs from an old sailing vessel.

The kitchen features a 12-foot-long antique leaded-glass window and a patio with Puget Sound views.

The master bedroom has a private sun room attached to it.

The fourth and fifth floors have more bedrooms, including one that McLennan used as a home office recently to write books and design buildings.

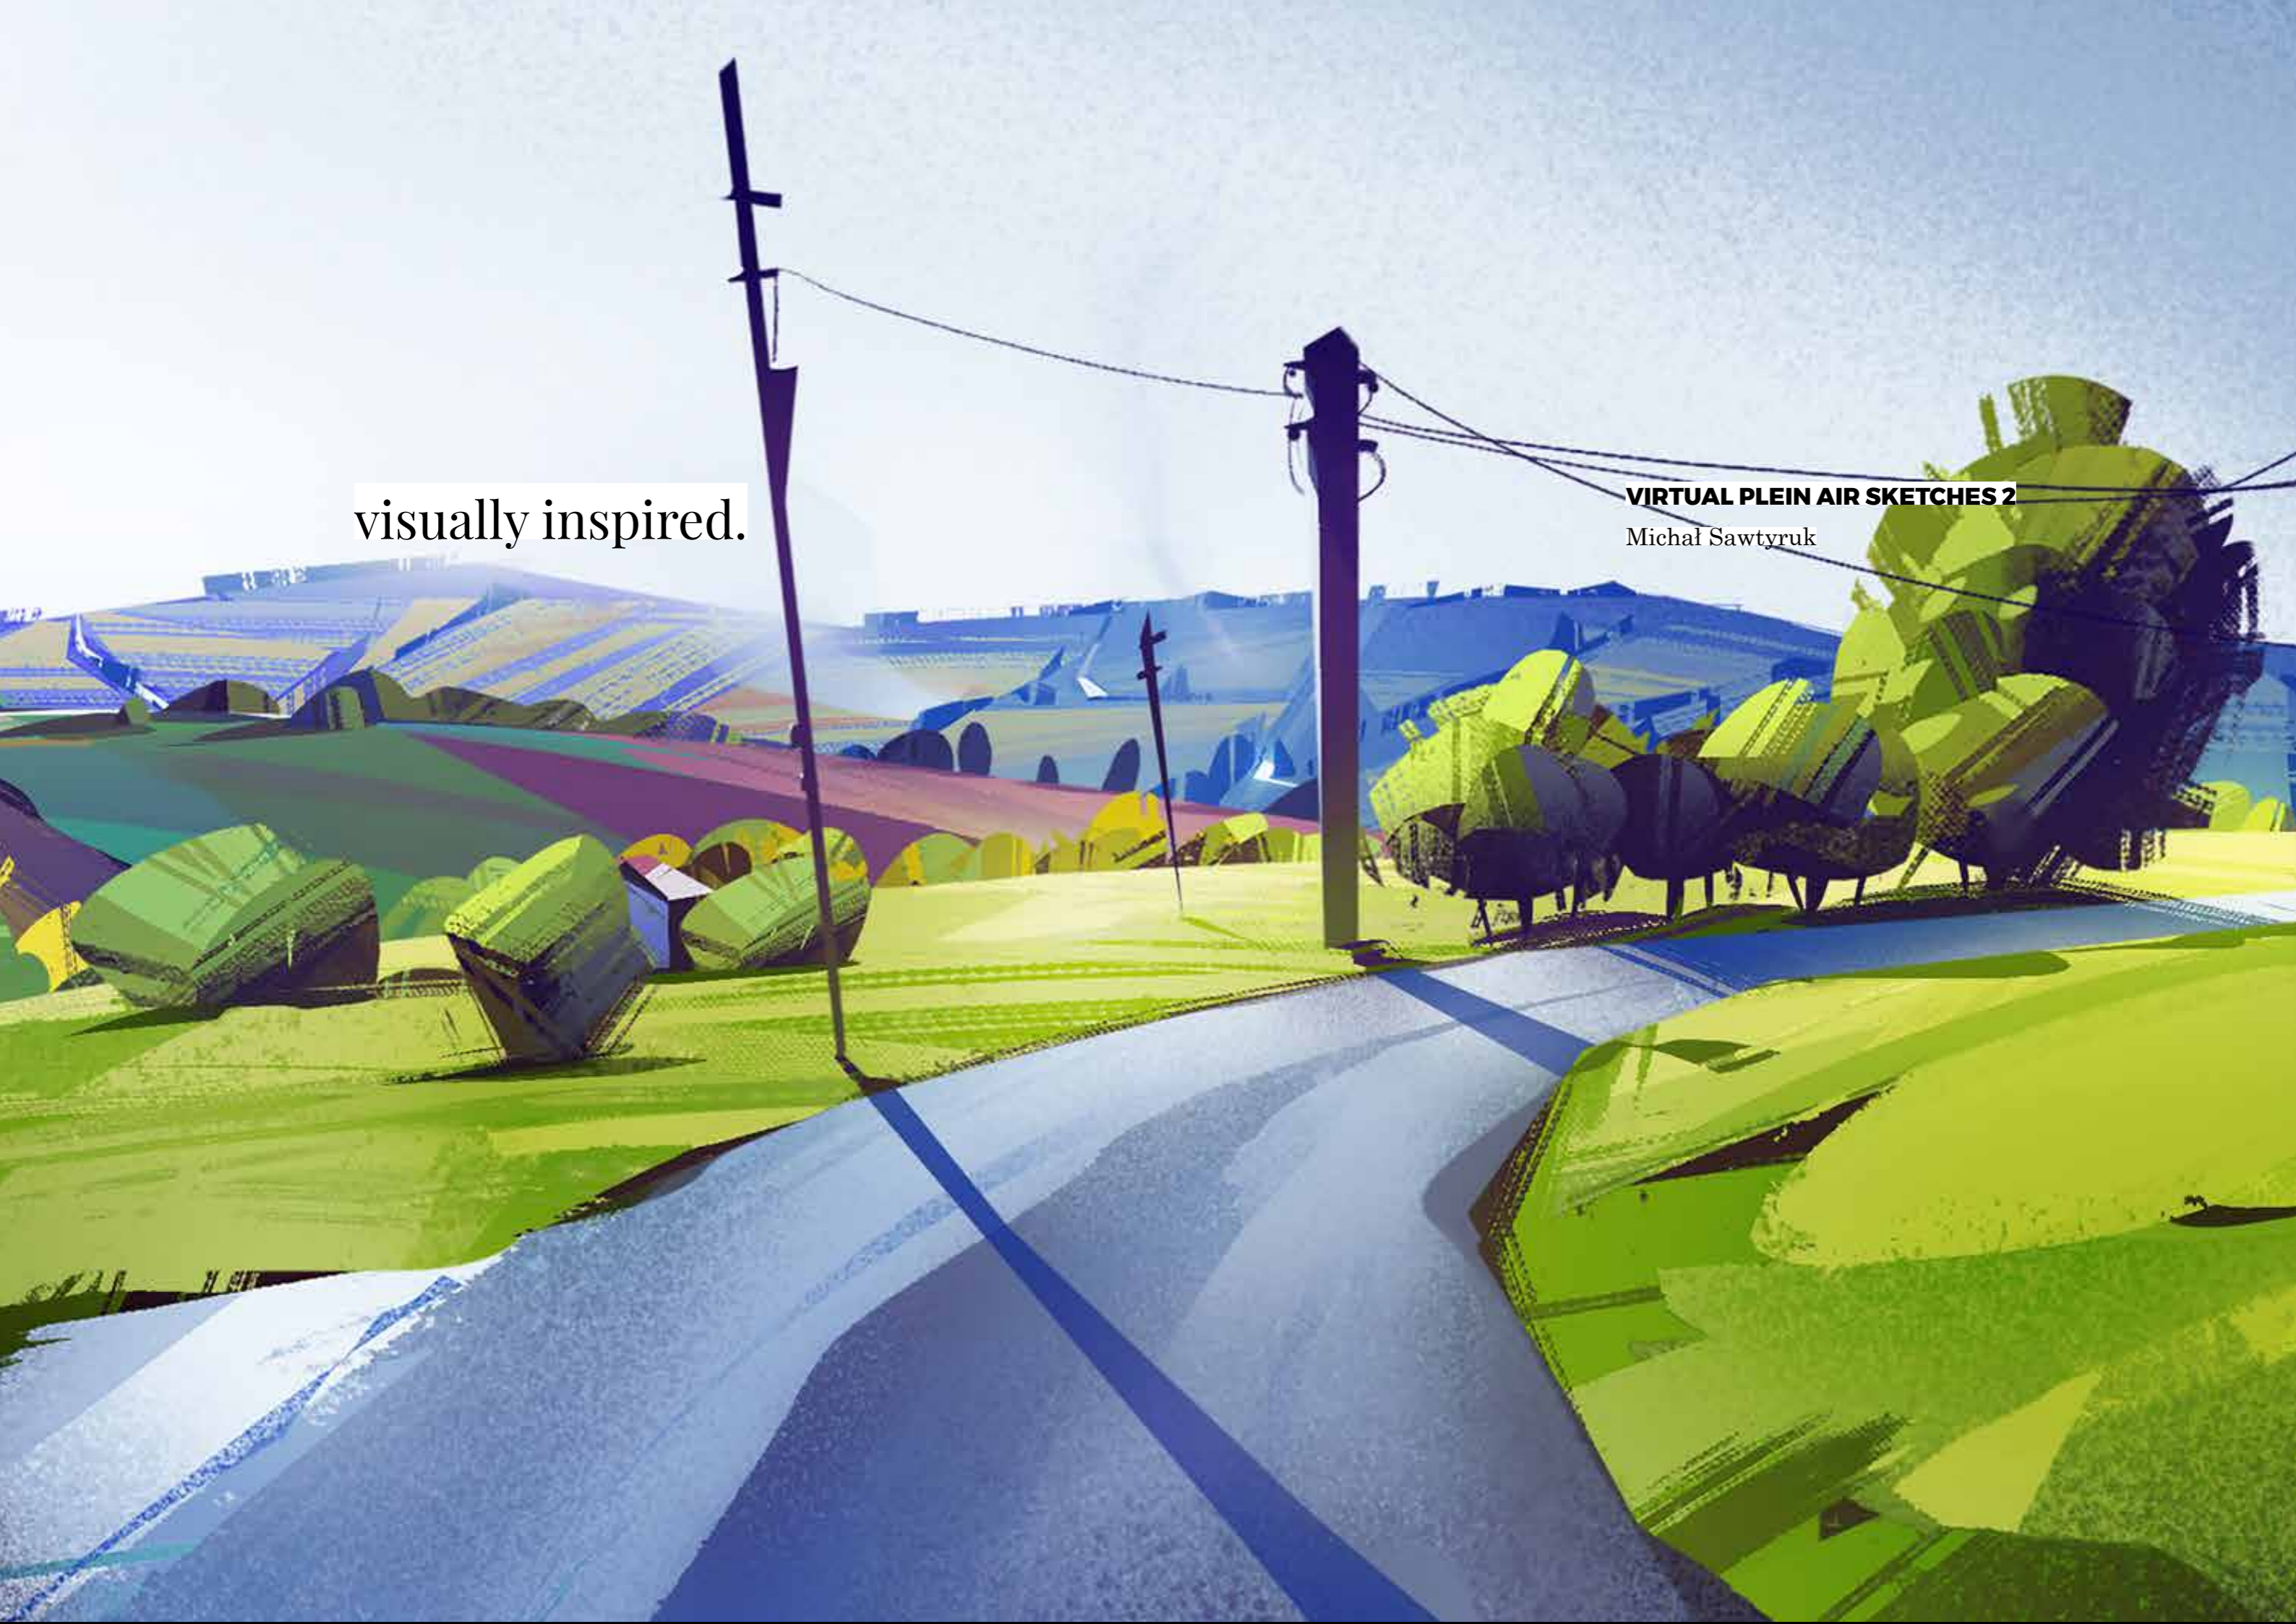

"It's just nature's paradise," McLennan said. "Everything is nestled in the trees, so the trees are intact and the ecosystem is intact. You do feel like you're in a special place when you're there."

The home recently sold over the summer for $875,000.
